Anti-Racism & Faith

For many, the racial unrest our country has experienced this summer may have awakened a call within ourselves to learn more about the origins of racial inequities and injustices. How did we get to this moment? How do race and faith intersect? What can we, as predominantly white Christians, do about any of it? This small group, launching in early October, is designed to help us come together as members of a faith community to learn and dialogue together about anti-racism and faith over the course of six weeks.

Grief

"I am beginning to see that much of praying is grieving" (Henri Nouwen, Return of the Prodigal Son). This group of no more than ten will gather for six weeks to process grief, cumulative or specific to a circumstance, using the classic text Good Grief by Granger E. Westberg with optional companion text The Good Grief Journal, A Journey Toward Healing by Jill Alexander Essbaum.

To register for this small group, please contact Pastor Marty Sheaffer (pr.sheaffer@stpaulstitz.net) or Kimberly Todd (ktodd@stpaulstitz.net)
