Nearly 2 billion people are seeking God right now. Here's how to pray and take action.

Ramadan started February 18th.

For the next month, Muslims worldwide will fast from sunrise to sunset. They'll seek spiritual renewal and closeness to God. This annual month of fasting commemorates when Muhammad received the first verses of the Quran.

WHY PRAY NOW?

Muslims are spiritually focused right now. Their hearts are open. They're seeking God.

Many mission workers report something remarkable: a high number of Muslims who follow Jesus first encounter him in a dream. One worker among unreached Muslim groups says about one in four new believers had a dream of Jesus before they converted.

Senegal—Pray with Mike and Nikki for the orality training meetings that will take place this week, led by trainers from several African countries. Pray that the training will be effectively translated from French into other local languages and that those trained would feel confident incorporating what they've learned in their ministries.

Least-Reached People Group Focus: North African Arabs—Over 252 million North African Arabs live across seven different countries. In some North African countries, the Christian population is higher, while in others it is only evangelical, ranging from 0.0% to 0.39%. Pray for North African Arabs to be hungry to receive the truth of Christ through dreams, visions, media, and local believers. Pray for the anointing and boldness of Christians in these countries to share His love and truth.
