

Yellow Light

Top Left: After 6 months, I finally made it back to Parque de las Palapas, my favorite park with some of my favorite snacks. Pictured here is a Marquesita. It's a wrap with the consistency and taste of a waffle cone filled with whatever add-ins you want. This one has queso bola, cream cheese, caramel, and fresh strawberries.

Top Right: For my birthday, my brother and sister-in-law gave me an illuminated journaling Bible. This quarantine has given me plenty of time to enjoy it and mark it up.

Bottom: One of Oso's biggest ministry roles is doing maintenance for our church. He is pictured here, with our pastor and another friend, putting things back in place after painting the entire sanctuary.

Becoming One

Introduction

Hi Family and Friends. Happy Fall! Depending on where you are in the world, some of you are starting to feel the cooler temperature and see the colors of the leaves change. For me, nothing in nature makes me feel like fall, so I thank God for Walmart where I can buy seasonal decorations to get me in the mood. One thing that is changing color is the Covid-19 traffic light. In Cancun, we just recently transitioned from orange to yellow allowing everything to open up a little more and function at a slightly higher capacity.

Kingdom School

Kingdom School is entering into its' 7th year of existence. For the last few years, Kingdom School has functioned as a sort of Sunday School, but on Saturdays. As we enter into a new season of ministry, the leadership has formed a team of us to assess how Kingdom School is working and suggest changes for realignment to our mission and values. We are excited to help form it into its' new function, a platform for discipleship.

Kingdom Academy

While we are not sure when we will be able to kick off the new school year, we are very sure about how we want to do it. As you all know, parents are taking on a huge load in facilitating their children's education at home while many of them also continue to work even full-time jobs. With that in mind, the Kingdom Academy team has planned a 3-day parent seminar to invest in the lives of our parents as they invest into the lives of their kids. We will be presenting subjects such as the importance of education, the importance of Christian education, and how our school model works. We will also be facilitating dynamics relating to vision, identity, and commitment. Please be praying that God would move through us to touch the lives of our parents and students.

Personal Life

Things were starting to get rolling again, until about 3 weeks ago. Individuals on our staff and their families started presenting symptoms one-by-one until we decided to shut down activities and quarantine in our own homes. A positive test came back and confirmed our suspicions that Covid-19 had hit our base. I was super blessed to be among the 4 of us that have remained asymptomatic. Because Oso was symptomatic, he went to one of the base houses that is not currently in use to isolate himself from myself and our other family members that we live with. Praise God his symptoms were light and the only thing that remains is a cough. The majority of those who were sick are now without any symptoms and we are starting to talk about plans for moving forward. Although my almost 2 weeks without Oso has been difficult, I have enjoyed my time with my father-in-law and 2 brothers-in-law that we live with. I have spent a lot of time cooking and perfecting my rice-making skills. I have also spent a lot of time cleaning, reading my bible, and on FaceTime with Oso or my mom. Oso is due to come back home in just a couple more days and I can't wait. I think these next 48 hours are going to be the slowest in this whole quarantine. Next week, the base will receive a DTS Outreach team and the action will start to pick back up once again. Please be praying for complete healing, protection, and wisdom as we enter into this next season.

Thank you so much for your friendship, prayers, and financial support. Oso and I are very blessed to partner with you in the ministry!

Until we all become one,
