Dating pt. 3

Part 3 summary

- Hookup culture, porn, and even sex in a committed pre-marital relationship are two-dimensional substitutes for the beauty of sex as God intended it.
- Sex chemically bonds people, which is helpful if they are married and harmful if they are not.
- Instead of trying to push God's limits, we should seek to embrace His plan for sexuality.

Discussion questions

01 Do you think it's realistic to expect people to wait to have sex until they are married? Why or why not?

02 Do you have a vision for sex being good and beautiful, or is it easier to see it as dirty and embarrassing?

03 Even if someone doesn't view porn or act out sexually, what are other ways they might not be trusting God with their sexual desires?

Diving deeper

Eph 5:31-32 says, "Therefore a man shall leave his father and mother and hold fast to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh." This mystery is profound, and I am saying that it refers to Christ and the church." Paul tells us that the purpose of marriage and sexuality is to depict the relationship between Christ and the Church. How could recognizing this truth help us have a better vision for and attitude toward sex?
