FOREFRONT SMALL GROUP STUDY

What if the biggest threat to our faith isn't unbelief... but living like God doesn't matter?

Practical Atheism explores the gap between what we say we believe and how we actually live. This series challenges us to move beyond agreeing with truth on Sunday to being transformed by it Monday through Saturday—inviting us from knowing about Jesus to truly knowing Him.

Icebreaker Question: If you could instantly eliminate one minor daily inconvenience from your life forever (traffic, waiting in lines, folding laundry, etc.), what would you choose?

DAILY WALK / NEXT STEP:

The “One Uncomfortable Yes” Challenge
This week, identify one thing you've been avoiding because it feels uncomfortable:

- A hard conversation
- A step of generosity
- Serving somewhere
- Speaking up about your faith
- Starting a spiritual habit

Pray about it.

Then take one small step toward it.

Not because discomfort earns you anything — but because Jesus is worth following wherever He leads.

Click here to dive deeper into the topic of comfort on your own.

1. When you hear the word “comfort,” what comes to mind? Is it positive, negative, neutral?
2. In what areas of life is comfort helpful? Where might it become limiting?
3. Why do you think discomfort feels like a warning sign to us?
4. Read Luke 9:23. What do you think “deny yourself” looks like in everyday life?
5. Can you think of a time when something uncomfortable led to growth or something meaningful?
6. Where is it hardest for you to choose conviction over convenience?
7. What might change in your life if your primary question shifted from “Is this comfortable?” to “Does this glorify God?”
