update

Judie Anzivino (ex-mother-in-law) has been improving. They did put a feeding tube in due to not being able to swallow or open her mouth. She had brain bleeding, but it has stopped. She has a blood clot, but they think it may be shrinking.

All this has happened due first to God and his loving grace, but all of you who have been praying for her. Thank you so much for all of your love and kindness. Please keep praying don't know yet where it will be going from here.

My ex-mother-law had a stroke today and the right side of her body is paralyzed. When I left the hospital they were waiting to take her for an catscan. They were having trouble getting her to calm down and then her blood pressure was very high. 186/102 they wanted people to leave so she would calm down. She has a blood clot in the central part of her brain. They have found blood, and they are hoping that it's just vessels bleeding. Before they can do anything with the blood clot, they need to get the bleeding under control. To top it all off, she has a do not resuscitate, no meds, and no ventilator. So very tough for they family right now. She is 83 years old and not in good health any way. Please pray for God's will and strength for the family.
