Nebuchadnezzar King of Babylon

“Then the herald loudly proclaimed:
“To you the command is given, O peoples, nations and men of every language, that at the moment you hear the sound of the horn, flute, lyre, trigon, psaltery, bagpipe and all kinds of music, you are to fall down and worship the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king has set up.
But whoever does not fall down and worship shall immediately be cast into the midst of a furnace of blazing fire.”

Daniel 11 & the King of the North

In the 153rd year, Antiochus Epiphanes marched against Jerusalem with a great army. In arrogance he entered the holy sanctuary, plundered the golden altar, lampstand, table of showbread, sacred vessels, and even stripped away the ornamentation of the Temple itself. He seized all treasures and returned to his land, leaving Israel in deep mourning.

Two years later, Antiochus sent his officer Apollonius to Jerusalem. Speaking peaceably, he deceived the people, then suddenly struck the city, slaughtering many, burning houses, tearing down walls, and carrying women and children into captivity. He fortified the city of David and stationed lawless men there, turning it into a constant threat against the sanctuary. Blood was shed around the holy place, the sanctuary was defiled, the feasts turned into mourning, Sabbaths into shame, and Jerusalem into a desolation.

Antiochus then issued an edict to his whole kingdom: all peoples must abandon their customs and be one people. He commanded the Jews to profane the Sabbaths and feasts, cease sacrifices, pollute the sanctuary, forsake circumcision, and build altars for idols. Swine and unclean animals were to be sacrificed, and anyone found keeping the Law was to be put to death. Many in Israel abandoned the covenant, but others hid themselves in faithfulness.

On the 15th day of Chislev, in the 145th year, they set up upon the altar the “abomination of desolation.” They sacrificed swine upon the holy altar, destroyed every copy of the Law they could find, and killed those who possessed it. Women who circumcised their sons were slain with their children hung around their necks. Families were executed for keeping the covenant. Yet many in Israel stood firm, choosing death rather than to eat unclean food or break the holy covenant. Thus great wrath came upon Israel.

Promises of peace or inclusivity:

He claims to protect minorities, to build institutions, to form inclusive government, etc.

Antichrist makes promises of peace, legitimacy, restoration, then betrays.

“And from the time that an alliance is made with him he shall act deceitfully, and he shall become strong with a small people.”

“Then they will deliver you to tribulation, and will kill you, and all nations will hate you because of My name. At that time many will fall away and will betray one another and hate one another. Many false prophets will arise and will mislead many. Because lawlessness is increased, most people’s love will grow cold. But the one who endures to the end, he will be saved.”
