Life Group Guide

For the week of August 24, 2025

“... train yourself for godliness; for while bodily training is of some value, godliness is of value in every way, as it holds promise for the present life and also for the life to come.” (1 Timothy 4:7-8 ESV) Eight Habits of a Transformed Life is a sermon series that invites us to explore the foundational spiritual disciplines that help believers deepen their relationship with Christ. Each week focuses on one key discipline, offering biblical insight, practical application, and encouragement to adopt it as a lasting spiritual habit.

1. Have you ever thought about serving as an act of training yourself away from arrogance, possessiveness, envy, resentment, or covetousness?
2. After hearing the event of Jesus washing the feet of the disciples, how is your thinking changed when you consider serving is an act of humility?
3. Serving is also an act of joy and love. Read Psalm 100:2 and Galatians 5:13. How does your motivation to serving need to change with that in mind?
4. How do you need to live and serve differently as a result of what you have learned?
